Palliative care centre coming to Didsbury

BY PAUL FREY
MVP Staff

Didsbury will be home to a new 300-bed palliative care facility in about a year's time, creating 300 new jobs and providing people from around the region a place where they can spend their final time in comfort.

Town of Didsbury officials made the announcement on Sept. 22 at the Didsbury curling rink after a community dinner was held.

The project will occupy the site of the former Heritage Crossing development, plus adjacent lands to the north. It will take up land on 21 Avenue east from 21 Street to 20 Street.

Although a cost estimate still hasn't been finalized for the project, it's upwards of tens of millions of dollars, according to Brad Fillo, chief executive officer of Dessert Architecture, the design firm on the project.

The facility will offer Stages 3 and 4 of supportive living, as well as palliative care by providing physical, emotional and spiritual support for an individual at the end stages of life.

The main difference between hospice and palliative care is that in hospice, one needs to be within six months of death in order to be eligible for hospice care under provincial health plans. In palliative care, there are no time restrictions on accessing services and it's not necessary for clients to be terminal in order to receive services.

A variety of health professionals ranging from doctors, nurses, health care aids and dieticians to janitorial staff will work at the Didsbury facility. It will offer personal care, meals, recreation programs and a 24-hour secure setting.

"Additionally, as required, Isabella Homes will ensure that residents who require chronic disease assistance, dementia and/or physical needs assistance will receive special care and attention," Fillo said during the public presentation.

Staff will have at their disposal all the medical information about clients available to them on their mobile devices.

Fillo said the facility will blend in with the surrounding neighbourhood.

"Given the location of the home, residents and neighbours can mingle and continue to go about their daily lives in the comfort and surroundings that they are used to. We wish to offer Didsbury residents a natural progression from their homes in the community to the facility," he said.

Fillo said he hopes the facility, with its proximity to the downtown core, will enhance the vitality of businesses in Didsbury.

First reading of a bylaw paving the way for the development was passed earlier this year. Once the expected second and third readings are passed by council, Isabella Homes hopes to begin construction soon. Isabella Homes hopes to use as much local labour on construction and operation as possible, said officials.

Fillo said Didsbury's demographics and the town's vitality as a growing community were just two of the reasons why officials chose to build there. With numerous other businesses locating to Didsbury such as Bruce Steel and Tim Hortons, and the near-completion of Telus's fibre-optic network throughout town, Fillo said these were com-ling reasons to locate here.

Fillo also said he wants to make sure that people who built the community many years ago are able to stay here as they age.

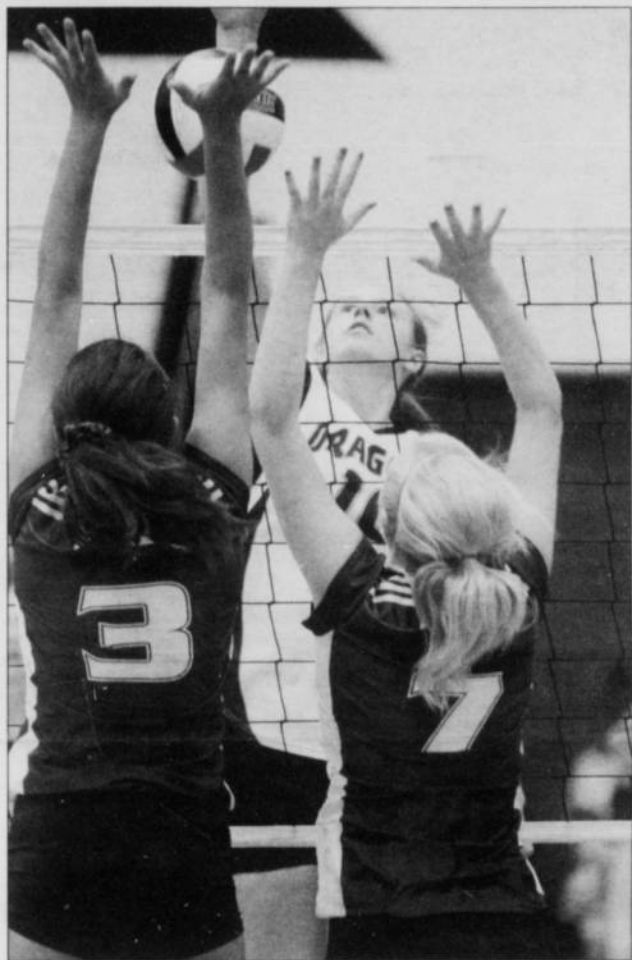

"Those in palliative care are a vital part of any community. It is Isabella Homes' (fervent) desire to ensure that those in our care continue to have the respect, the dignity and the comfort that these wonderful folks have had throughout their lives here," he said.

In an interview following the presentation, Fillo said one of the main reasons Isabella Homes chose Didsbury for a location was because of its central location to a number of communities in the area.

Fillo said there is a significant need for palliative care, not only in Alberta, but throughout Canada. In a 2000 report conducted by the federal Senate, only 15 per cent of people who could benefit from palliative care have access to it. Further, the Canadian Hospice Palliative Care Association estimates that 73 per cent of Canadians who die would benefit from palliative care, and with the aging population that number could grow if it's not addressed.

Fillo said town officials approached Dessert Architecture about completing a project at the former Heritage Crossing site. Officials with Isabella Homes then contacted Ashbury Design, the previous owners of the condominium project, and brokered a deal to buy the former development.

Brent Hooton, chairman of the board for both Dessert Architecture and Isabella Homes, said in an interview that because Isabella Homes is building another palliative care facility in Calgary, Town of Didsbury staff approached Isabella Homes about potentially building in Didsbury.

"We came out, reviewed the logistics of that (Heritage Crossing) property and decided that ideally, it would be suitable for a palliative care centre in Didsbury that would support the surrounding demographics," he said, adding that there is a need for 4,000 palliative care beds across the province. Most of those 4,000 spaces are currently being provided for in hospitals, but Hooton said ideally those beds would be off-loaded to make those hospital beds available for acute care.

"There's an immediate need ... and that's not including the shut-ins that we don't know anything about ... people that are in homes that are being cared for by families that truly need additional care," he said.

Mayor Rick Mousseau said the palliative care facility fits well with the town's growth plan.

"It's a big project and I'm sure people are excited by what's coming. I know I am. This will have a significant impact on our local economy for years to come. This development is a great example of how the Town of Didsbury really is the place to grow," he said.

Mousseau said a significant amount of people will be moving to Didsbury as a result of the project as well as creating employment for people that are already here.

Lions help out Mountain View Food Bank

BY PAUL FREY
MVP Staff

The Lions Club of Didsbury collected 2,695.5 kilograms of food on Sept. 25 to benefit the Mountain View Food Bank (MVFB).

A total of $810 in cash was also raised this year during the annual food drive in Didsbury, beating last year's total of $700.

"Big kudos to the citizens of the town of Didsbury for all their support. I think the support this year was good," said Vance van Dam, coordinator of the food drive for the Lions.

Van Dam said longtime volunteers Murray Owens from Carstairs, who is 83 and brought his truck and trailer to the pickup point to take the donations to Olds, and Bill Jepps, a Didsbury resident who sits on the MVFB board, deserve a lot of credit for the effort they expend in helping to make the food drive a success each year.

This year's total beat last year's effort, which collected 2,057.4 kilograms of food. It also surpassed the 2012 total of 2,489.8 kilograms of food.

The amount was greatly needed and will top up stocks that were getting low, said MVFB treasurer Harry Warne.

"We've just come through the summer months and depleted our stocks, so we'll be renewing our stocks for the next few months," he said, adding that a food drive was also conducted by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Olds recently.

"We look forward to another good drive in Didsbury," Warne said last week prior to the Didsbury event.

Warne said the food bank has seen a 10 per cent increase in demand for service so far in 2014 compared to the same time period last year.

"This time of year, because kids are starting school, demand for help is (increasing)," he said.

Warne said some of the items that are most needed currently include items for school lunches as well as more common items.

About 35 students from Westglen School were recruited by the Lions to help out with the food drive. In recognition of their help, the Lions will be making a donation to the school for items not covered by the regular school budget.

Seth Petersen, a Grade 7 student at Westglen, said he thought helping out with the food drive was a good experience.

"It was pretty cool volunteering. It was my first time doing this," he said.

Carson McCulloch, another Grade 7 student that was part of Petersen's group, said the group covered about 10 to 12 blocks around Didsbury.

"We got lots of donations. It was really cool," he said.

Located in Olds, the food bank serves all communities within Mountain View County, east to Torrington and north to Bowden.

The food bank is open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. every Tuesday to serve clients.

Didsbury Museum to host fundraiser

BY PAUL FREY
MVP Staff

The Didsbury Museum will host a fundraiser on Oct. 17, An Evening of Elegance, to support ongoing operations there.

The meeting room at the museum will be transformed into an art gallery, complete with appropriate lighting, music, hors d'oeuvres and the works of local artist Ruth Jepson, who will be showing off her collection of life-sized figures.

The figures were originally at Olds College for many years, but with a renovation last year at the college, they were returned to Jepson, who loaned them to the art show in April for exhibition. The figures will be on prominent display on Oct. 17 and will stay at the museum for about a month afterward, said event coordinator and museum president Annie Loades.

"Frankie Kelly, Shirley Doran and myself, we were lucky enough to go and view these fabulous (figures) she's done and we thought 'oh what a wonderful thing. People in Didsbury should see these, because (Jepson is) going to be putting them away and they will probably not be seen again'," Loades said.

Scarlett O'Hara, Cleopatra and Queen Elizabeth I are among some of the figures in Jepson's collection.

Loades has secured the help of Westglen School students to help serve people who will attend the event, which will also feature the harp music of Tesia Runnett.

"It should be a fun occasion. It's important to have everybody who is a part of our community be part of this," she said.

Tickets for the event, which begins at 7 p.m., are available at the museum or through PayPal.

Volleyball Dragons host tough competition

Noel West/MVP Staff

BY PAUL FREY
MVP Staff

The Didsbury Dragons senior girls volleyball team hosted some of the best teams throughout the province on Sept. 26 and 27, posting a 0-5 record.

The team lost in straight sets to Strathcona Tweedsmuir, Mayerthorpe, Acme and Androssan before winning one set in the team's final match of the tournament against Vauxhall. The Dragons came out strong in that match, winning the first set 25-21 before dropping the next two 10-25 and 8-15.

Dragons coach Henry Paulgaard said five of the province's top 2A teams (schools with 100 to 199 students per grade) from last year were in attendance with two other teams that came to the tournament having competed at the provincial championships last year.

"We won one set off of a team that's finished in the top three in provincials for the last number of years. They're in a rebuilding stage but it was pretty exciting to have some really close matches. We're proud of our matches seeing that it's so early in our season," he said.

Paulgaard said some of the teams that competed in Didsbury were competing in their third tournament of the season and so were in mid-season form, while this was the Dragons' first tournament of the season.

"We just like to be exposed to a high level of volleyball and it teaches us to play a little more confidently and to see how the game is played at another level. So we realize we have a little bit of work to do, but it's fun to be part of a tournament like this," he said.

Paulgaard said when they weren't playing, many of the Dragons were intent on watching other matches to see what they might be able to take from those players and incorporate into their own play.

Colts win

BY PAUL FREY
MVP Staff

For the second time in as many games this season, the Mountainview Colts survived a barnburner at the Didsbury Memorial Complex on Sept. 27, beating the Medicine Hat Cubs 8-6 in Heritage Junior Hockey League action.

The Colts got good efforts from several players, including four points each from Cole Sutherland, Evan Thompson, Ryan Klinck and Jacob Vander Zaag. Tyson Schmidt and Colton Anderson each had three points.

Rookie goaltender Jake Carlson stopped 33 shots for his first HJHL win. The Colts directed 55 shots at the Medicine Hat nets.

Dragons win big despite injuries to players

BY PAUL FREY
MVP Staff

The Didsbury Dragons football team won 50-19 over the Sundre Bisons in Mountain View Football Conference play on Sept. 27.

But the victory came at a cost of injuries to players throughout the game, the most serious of which cast a pall over the game for several minutes while staff from both teams, then paramedics attended to Dylon Coney who collided with a spectator as he was being pushed out of bounds by a Bisons player. Complaining of neck pain, he was eventually treated by paramedics and left the game on a backboard for precautionary reasons. Coney later returned to the sidelines to support his teammates.

"It was scary. It's always scary when somebody gets a neck injury. We haven't ever had anything serious like that happen and we don't want it, but the people involved took the right precautions and ... got the EMTs here, but he's OK. He's fine, he's got a sore neck," said Mark Lefebvre, the Dragons' coach, following the game.

Lefebvre added that Coney wouldn't be practicing this week, nor suiting up when the Dragons travel to Innisfail to take on the Cyclones.

As for the game itself, it was a fairly even affair through the first part of the game, with the two teams tied at 13. The Dragons then scored four unanswered touchdowns to take a 42-13 lead over the Bisons before the Bisons responded with a touchdown on the next possession. The Dragons cemented the victory with another major strike and convert before the final whistle.

"Once we were able to beat them deep (with passes) a few times, that changed the game around," said Lefebvre.

One of the big plays featured a scramble by quarterback Jonas Haeni who took a hand-off from a teammate from behind the line of scrimmage at the Dragons' own 45 yard line. Haeni managed to run the length of the sideline to score, putting the Dragons up 42-13. Another Haeni pass earlier in the game resulted in a 28-yard pass and run play for a touchdown.

Heading into the last two games of the season, the Dragons will travel to Innisfail to take on the Cyclones on Oct. 4, a team the Dragons lost to 26-8 in the season's other meeting between the two teams. The last game before playoffs will be in Carstairs against the Tigers.

"I wish that we felt like we were completely healthy going into Innisfail but it doesn't look like that. If we were healthy and we had our normal good game, I think we could beat them. We may have to wait until the championship for that to happen, or if we meet them in the playoffs," Lefebvre said.

Paul Frey/MVP Staff

NEW HEARING CLINIC IN OLDS

Dr. Towers, you've been an Audiologist in Red Deer since 2003. What brings you to Olds?

I grew up in smaller communities. I remember having to travel long distances to see dentists and orthodontists. I think hearing care is changing. The model we have seen over the years of "fly by night" operations selling hearing aids a couple days a month to unsuspecting seniors in small towns, needs to be a thing of the past. It never really was acceptable from a health care perspective and now I think the baby boomer generation is refusing to accept that.

They expect more, as they should, and I am happy to provide a reputable and permanent clinic in Olds that offers only the highest quality of care.

How has hearing care changed in your time as an Audiologist?

Almost everything has changed, some for the better and some not. On the positive side, there is no doubt that the technology we use is better than it has ever been and the negative experiences that people have had with hearing aids should be a thing of the past. On the questionable side, we have seen big box stores and hearing aid manufacturers owning "clinics". What concerns me about that is the limitation that the patient has in getting the right solution. It is sort of like saying, "pick any colour of blue you want." Reputable clinics, like HearWell Audiology, work with every major manufacturer and prescribe what is best for the patient, not what is best for the clinic. It should feel like health care, not a sales job.

"I am happy to provide a reputable and permanent clinic in Olds that offers only the highest quality of care."

It seems like you have a clear idea of further changes that may come?

I have a very clear idea of how hearing care should be delivered and I am working to change it as best I can. I give everyone the opportunity to participate in programs unique to HearWell Audiology. The most popular has been the "21 Day HearWell Challenge" where I loan (for free) hearing aids to people who need them for up to 3 weeks, often on the same day as the hearing exam. This is over and above your standard trial period, which is 90 days for us. Again, the people we are seeing now are different. They don't necessarily want to take my word for it, and they don't have to. They say "show me" and I can demonstrate just how easy it can be to wear hearing aids and improve quality of life.

What motivates you to practice this way? Why are you so driven to change hearing care?

I have a different set of experiences than most. It starts with being a Doctor of Audiology. You don't have to be one to prescribe and dispense hearing aids in Alberta, but it does change things. Second, I did spend a portion of my career as the Chief of Audiology for Oticon Canada, which is one of the world's largest hearing aid manufacturers, based in Copenhagen, Denmark. My job there was to learn the research done in Denmark, bring it back to the clinicians in Canada and teach them. As part of that, I was in hundreds of clinics across the country and learned what works well and what doesn't. I had a bird's eye view of the changes in hearing care and simply put, I didn't like everything I saw. I think it can be better. So, as they say, you can talk about it or you can prove it. I decided to return to practice and prove it.

Lastly, unrelated to hearing, your name sounds familiar. Do you have ties to the area?

The short answer is yes. Some people may remember my grandfather in Olds, or even my dad, but you'll just have to stop by the clinic to find out the details!

JEAN KATHERINE MCCULLOCH

Jean Katherine McCulloch (nee Krebs) born August 4, 1931 passed away peacefully with her family by her side on September 5, 2014 at the age of 83. Jean was predeceased by her parents Otto and Anna Krebs as well as her in laws Jim and Mary McCulloch, daughter in law Sonja and son Earl McCulloch, daughter Katherine McCulloch, son Steven McCulloch, an infant sister Irma and 3 brothers Albert, Lawrence and Howard Krebs, sister in law Larue Krebs and brother in law George Kurtz.

Jean was raised in the rugby area and later attended Didsbury High School. In 1951 Jean married the love of her life Arnold McCulloch. They were married February 27, 1951 in a double wedding ceremony with Jean's brother Howard marrying Arnold's sister Laura. Jean moved to the Midway farming community. Beginning life in the one room bunk house and later together building a new home that was open to any and all whether you needed a bed, a meal, a perm, help with a recipe or sewing project, a cup of tea, advice on caring for your new born, or even just a visit. Jean was passionate about music and is fondly remembered for freely sharing that gift with her family and community. Jean began playing piano for dances with her brothers in the Krebs orchestra at the age of 14. She also sang and accompanied other local musicians over the years. Jean volunteered to teach singing, recorder and ukulele at both Midway and Reed Ranch Schools. Jean was a highly sought after organist for horse shows around the province. For over 30 years Jean provided weekly entertainment for the residents at the Didsbury Nursing Home, and later Aspen Lodge. Jean's creative talents flowed from the piano to her abundant vegetable and flower gardens. Many hours were spent planting, weeding, harvesting, pickling, canning, and baking. She was an expert seamstress and crafter, always eager to learn new skills.

Jean lived a life of faith and service to her community. She was active in the Redeemer Lutheran Church, Alberta Women's Institute, Bancroft girls club, Lone Pine Old Timers association and Midway Home and School to name a few. However, Jean's greatest legacy was her immeasurable dedication to her family. She taught by example the importance of prayer, hard work, respect for nature and unconditional love. She is lovingly remembered by her husband Arnold; daughter Ruby (Jim) Gole, son Barry, daughter Jennifer (Devon) Rabchak, son in law Rick Keik, daughter in law Jennifer McCulloch. Grandchildren Ian (Ralene), Andrea (Bruce), Amy (Chris), Nathan (Melissa), Thea (Marc), Faith, William, Robert (Elisha), Allison (Brandon), Reese, Russel, Carson, Rowan. Great Grandchildren Amorey, Esme, James, Kaiser, Kade, Tyson, Eileen, Teala. Forever in our hearts and always in our song.

HOWARD STEIGER

April 16, 1941 – August 30, 2014

Howard was a first generation Canadian born in Atwood, Ontario after his parents immigrated from Switzerland. As a young boy he assisted his father at their family's feed mill and graduated from Upper Canada College in 1960. In 1964, he graduated from Ryerson Institute of Technology having studied Metallurgy. In 1971, he was certified as a Registered Engineering Technologist, a certification he held until his passing. After working as a Metallurgist for eleven years, Howard changed his focus to technical sales in the oil and gas industry following his move to Alberta. Howard retired from the industry in 2007, although he enjoyed working part-time at Rona and the Public Works division of the Town of Didsbury for a number of years afterwards. Married in 1965, Howard was predeceased by his wife Lillian in 2011. They had an active life spending time with their family, and enjoyed many years of boating, camping, hiking, skiing and whitewater rafting together. In their retirement, they completed an extensive home and garden renovation. Howard will be greatly missed by his daughters, Debra and Rhonda, his son-in-law, Troy, grandson Ethan and sister Helenmaria. Our heartfelt gratitude to the emergency response teams who attended. Your compassion and professionalism is greatly appreciated. A remembrance gathering will be held for Howard & Lillian On October 4, 2014 from 1:00 – 4:00 p.m. at the Didsbury Train Station (Eldon Foote Hall). In lieu of flowers, donations to the ALS Society of Alberta or S.T.A.R.S. Air Ambulance would be gratefully appreciated.
